Quinquennial Report on AIMS Education

AIMS Education - Completing five years...

"AIMS Education- 3000 Hadley Rd, So. Plainfield, NJ 07080"

Along the CORRIDOR OF TIMES AIMS has traversed in all her grace and dint the challenging path of progress and has reached an optimal success check point after five years since inception. AIMS EDUCATION started in a humble way on the 2nd floor of 3000 Hadley Rd, in a premise of just 2500sq: ft: then to a 10,000 sq: ft; now, by an ambitious yet altruistic group of physicians, nurses and IT professionals who concretized their consensual desire in 2004, in providing quality education at affordable prices in one of the most sought after careers in Allied Health care fields.

What's so special about AIMS EDUCATION?

AIMS EDUCATION is a unique school in NJ that offers 12 much in demand programs in allied health under a single roof.

Academic standards have been the apple of the eye of the academic activities at AIMS EDUCATION. Untiring efforts rendered by the teaching faculty with the administration's guide and support have seen some remarkable progress in teaching and examination methodologies. Text materials have been subjected to review by the program heads and updated text materials have been introduced for Ultrasound vascular, Abdomen, EKG & Phlebotomy and for Medical Assisting.

Having quality and standard as the "Mantras", AIMS EDUCATION has achieved much coveted acknowledgement for these salient features from the prestigious accrediting agency CSS-MSA (Commission on Secondary Schools- Middle States Association) within this short period of time.

With a vision to satiate all becoming aspirations of our trusting clients, AIMS EDUCATION relentlessly seeks avenues to lead them to their much cherished career goals. This accreditation will be subjected for renewal in 2017 and the major task ahead for the school is the maintenance of the achieved standards! From a great start of 120 students the very first year, now Aims has to its credit 200 students enrolled for various programs offered here.

In this stride the school has added some more valuable feathers to its cap. With the Accreditation coming through, we achieved Title IV - Financial Aid approval for few of our major programs in 2008. The forth coming year is crucial for approval of many more programs.

All the Doctors and instructors are very good, they spend a lot of time and make sure that all the student are learning and doing well. You feel welcomed as a student.

I learned many things in this program. The Program is very informative and challenging. My teachers were very professional and informative, they took time to explain the course and made sure we understood very well. The clinical externship was good learning experience. Jacquelyn West

The entire team compiled effectively all the requirements for the official site visit of the USDOE member on July 31st 2008. The visiting member - Ms. Teresa Martinez- to our school was compelled after witnessing the performance of the school, to reveal her appreciation for the major achievements of this school that is especially so young and small. The outcome of her visit and perusal of the school's report to her is that AIMS EDUCATION has been awarded Title IV participation for three of our major programs; Diagnostic Medical Sonography-both 18 and 24 months, Cardiovascular and Medical Assistant Programs with a probationary approval up to June, 2010.

This being a novel chapter for AIMS EDUCATION, selected staff members attended debutant training at the prestigious Financial Square, in Wall Street, NY in September 2008. From then on our Financial Aid department has ever been busy with updating and upgrading themselves with the rapid dynamics of this sensitive program through webinars, and training sessions held in NY and Tennessee.

At the moment our school utilizes third part service provider "WEBER & ASSOCIATES" for processing FAFSA for all our students.

A veritable achievement for AIMS EDUCATION is its introduction into the international Educational Arena-going global has been one of the visions of AIMS EDUCATION since inception. Upon achieving the national standards at home, AIMS EDUCATION decided to spread its wings in the foreign skies and we have impressive number of students come in with enquiries every day round the globe. We got our SEVIS approval after inspection and interview in all appreciation in the month of JUNE-2008. Avenues have now opened up for AIMS EDUCATION to prove its worth and to carve a niche internationally. Indeed this is a definite stride to improve admission numbers phenomenally. We have had our first international student join us in October for Echocardiography program and we have several enquiries and applicants awaiting I-20 and Visa stamping.

Shortly after inception our school became an approved training provider for unemployed students of WDP and WIA categories from various counties. We are also approved to train students on TRA sponsored by big companies. We have nearly 30 to 40 percent of students availing this facility given by the Government.

Mission Statement:

American Institute of Medical Sciences & Education aims always to give our students the utmost instructs to orient well in health care fields latest modifies careers to earn the highest and serves special to achieve best standards.

AIMS EDUCATION is an approved school for training Veterans who want to upgrade themselves academically. Our team's recent camping in Atlantic City for Veterans Academic Orientation has been useful in letting VA students know about the viable programs offered by AIMS EDUCATION.

NEW PROGRAMS THAT MAKE AIMS SPECIAL

Polysomnography or Sleep Technician and Magnetic Resonance Imaging (MRI) have been introduced at Aims for the first time in a private school along the entire Northeast Corridor in the US.

We have now our first batch of students doing these programs. We have already two of our Polysomnography graduates who are working in the field!

Our MRI students from the first batch are in their final phase of the program.

Intense clinical training for students has been encouraged to perfect their technical skills. Visiting clinical instructors bring in the updates in the field to our students. The students are given periodic assessments to highlight their strengths and deficiencies and have them prepared for the finals.

Field trips for observation and learning have been introduced this year to make learning and training more practical and interesting.

Meetings with the Advisory board members are held in school during their visits. They advise the department heads on making the program current as is outside in real situation.

Waiting to be floated!

English as Second Language curriculum has been created and are awaiting the approval.

Clinical Research Assistant is another program which is on the anvil to be shortly sent to the Department of Education, NJ for approval.

LIBRARY:

As suggested in the Action Plan of AIMS EDUCATION the school has successfully started with ATHENEUM Club- with a mission of "read and let read". This is for AIMS students to have access to extra reading and for better acquisition of knowledge. With this the students can borrow and return books within the stipulated time and would be returned of their caution deposit of $100.

A beginning was made for this Herculean task in the year 2008. Books have been segregated and numbered and entered into the system and policies and procedures have been laid for the lending and returning of books.

The school is very well organized in a way to make learning fun & easy. The administrative staff is very helpful and always there to assist you. The clinical experience was very good; it's a great way to put up what you have learned to practical use it with real patients. --- Robert Dickerson

The school is planning to expand it in a big way in the near future.

EXTERNSHIP:

AIMS has added to its list of affiliations 2 new hospitals and 9 new smaller facilities to this year. Improvements of the clinical hand books to help the school have accurate recording of the clinical training activities of the students have been introduced.

We have this year got the much awaited affiliation with Robert Wood Johnson Hospital for Anatomical sciences. So far the school is proud of its prompt externship placements and site training and coordination for its students. We feel happy to share that many of our students from Cardiovascular and Diagnostic Ultrasound programs have been accepted as full time and part time technicians at various sites.

Cheers to those students who not only made it great at the externship sites but also for the school!

JOB PLACEMENT:

The ultimate indicator of success for a school lies in the placement rate of its graduates. Aims is quite happy with its performance in this arena as many of our graduates are already hired in their respective fields. We would like to share this great news that our quality products have caught the eyes of the hiring lot in around our school area.

Job placement rate hovers around 75% in each program on an average.

Social Events

Regularly we conduct annual parties for our students in party halls at various centers every year.

This year it's scheduled on December 18th, at Guru Palace.

Every Year for Halloween, staff and students come in typical costumes.

Constitutional Day was observed in the school. The students were given handouts of our Constitution and explanation was given. It was accompanied with refreshments.

To Increase the Financial awareness in this economically sliding period, Finance seminar by PRIMERICA -a CITI Bank group was conducted at school on December 9, 2008. The attendance was overwhelming and on the whole the seminar proved useful with many tips for smart investments outlined to the public.

TD Bank and Bank of America also conducted "Bank at Work" program in school to help students open accounts and give free financial counseling.

I found AIMS to be a very comfortable learning environment. The class size was small as promoted. The administrative and teaching staff was always willing to work with you at all the times. The clinical sites were the school puts you will prepare you well for the job opportunities and challenges. --- Orlene Alexander

The Objectives:

With the objective to steer behind the wheel of our philosophy bearing on the route to our mission all our efforts shall remain focused to achieve uncompromising success in establishing standard education and to impart to our candidates professional skills to fetch good career opportunities regardless of their race creed nationality or gender.

About Staff & Student

Staff:

AIMS EDUCATION has well trained staff and qualified instructors. We have 6 regular instructors and 3 part timers. We have 4 visiting faculty members who train clinically our students on regular basis. These are successful practitioners in their respective fields and help in updating education at our premises.

Our regular instructors are constantly encouraged to successfully complete their registry exams and all almost all our teaching team members have successfully completed them. They are sent to fields for real hands-on updates whenever required by the school.

Students:

AIMS EDUCATION is witnessing year after year many enthusiastic students who amaze in performance not only in school but also at the externship sites where they usually get hired.

Competitive spirit has been on the upward gradient. Every student who enrolls in Diagnostic Sonography and Cardiovascular program is interested in the national registry exam. Even students enrolled for shorter programs have shown greater interest in national certifying exams for a better standing in their fields.

Large number of students has taken the SPI - Physics exam and has secured very high percentages.

Many of our ultrasound and Cardio vascular graduates have passed their respective registry exams - ARDMS/CCI-with commendable scores. There are more than a dozen students from various programs who take NCCT exams in their fields of specialty and have succeeded well.

Three Cheers to all our achievers!

But AIMS EDUCATION would like to see more number of students appearing and clearing Registry and National exams.

Come on dear graduates buck up for this higher achievement!

Looking back, Aims has had its major share of achievements but nevertheless we are still aiming higher in all aspects to reach greater professional heights. As Providence would have it, our School has had good progress both in quality and quantity. We have become more professional and are as usual focused on the quality of education given to our students. The remarkable achievement of the school is its pioneering steps in setting up MRI, Polysomnography & embryology programs as a private school for the first time along the Northeastern corridor.

Looking ahead, Aims is planning for bigger premises to accommodate the growing numbers of students and programs. We are planning to introduce few more programs to our already long list. We have ESL (English as Second Language) and CRA (Clinical Research Assistant) on the anvil. We are planning to have Medical Assistant and Surgical Technician Laboratories set in State-of-the-art model. A bigger library with more books of reference for various programs is another main project.

In a nut shell AIMS EDUCATION'S progress in every field has become now evident. Nevertheless despite hurdles to be at the best always, every one could visibly perceive growth and development. Constant improvisations are being made to achieve the end goal which is "Quality". Uncompromising steps and untiring measures are taken to render education in the truest sense. "To strive for mastery" has become the Golden Password to enter the portals of AIMS EDUCATION and one can sense the upcoming blazing success trail in the years. We will stay committed to strive and retain our past achievements and continue to deliver better for the present and the future. Beats for this walk - a- thon will continue forever at AIMS EDUCATION.
